It was stated that further pressure was being brought to bear upon the Government to adopt legislation that would enable the Utster Government to establish its administration in Northern Ireland. It was recently pointed out that the powers of the Utster Cubinet were merely nominal until a Government was established in Southern Ireland. In some quarters the suggestion that administrative powers be conferred upon the Belfast Ministry was viewed with anxiety, for although the Government has so far given no sign of yielding to pressure, it was asserted this morning the Sinn Fein delegates had made known their determination immediately to withdraw from the conference should such a measure in Sympathy among Unionists for Ulster and indignation resulting from Eamonn de Valera's telegram to Pope Benedict appeared to day to be shaking the allegiance of some Unionists to the Government. It was believed very little was needed to swell considerably the number of malcontents in political circles.

The London Times said to-day it was the common view among the Government supporters that the "Irish negotiations can not survive the blow given them by de Valera." This view did not appear to be held in Ministerial quarters, where there seemed to be hopeful expectation that a bridge could be constructed over the chasm in the path of the negotiators. Meighen's Criticism Thoroughly Loyal Woodstock, N. B., Oct. 25 .- Hon.

T. A. Crerar spoke here to-day. In a speech opening the campaign of the National Progressives in the Maritime Provinces, he referred to the statement reported to have been that "the soil from which the volume that "the soil from which is not wholly a Canadian soil, as the soil in which you and I grew. There has been much immigration into that country, and though these immigrants make good farmers, I do not believe they have the vision of Canada or heart of Canada in the way the rest of us have."

"As a Canadian." commented Mr. Crerar, "I regret to hear such language from the lips of the Prime Minister of Canada. There is in it an imputation-against the loyalty of themen in Western Canada. In the face of the fact that we need people in Canada to share our burdens, and to develop our resources; in the face of the fact that Western Canada, and Alberta and Saskatchewan particularly, sent more men to the front in proportion to their population than almost any other Province, I say that I regret to hear the Prime Minister so quoted.

almost any other Province. I regret to hear the Prime Minister so quoted.

"With the big issues awaiting solution," continued Mr. Crerar, "is that the sort of thing we should be discussing? I want to tell you that the men who were the originators and who carried forward the work of organising the farmers of Canada, and who to-day are the leaders, are, with very few exceptions, men of either Canadian or British birth."

"In the Farmers Government of Alberta there is not a member who is not either of British or Canadian Birth, and the majority of its supporters in the Legislature are of the same racial origin."

"There is no question of the loyalt," of Western Canada—none whatever," Mr. Crerar added. Such questions were raised, he claimed, to divert public attention from the main issues, such as the railways, the public debt, immigration and unification of Canada.

Tariff.

He declared no man in his right senses would advocate that the tariff he swept away at once, but argued that the budget of last session, instead of decreasing, had increased tariff protection.

They say we must have protection to give employment to labor and we have been criticized for not having any constructive policy of employment. To that I would say that if to find employment we must open channels of trade, open your trade channels and you will give employment to the railwaymen who handle the goods to the people of the factories who make the goods and to the merchant who disposes of them.

Addresses From Leaders

Vancouver, Oct. 25—"The present act is doomed to failure," declared Rev. W. G. Fortune, secretary of the People's Prohibition Party, in presenting his annual report at the opening session of the prohibition convention, here to-day. "We in the Province of British Columbia have received a great setback, but we are neither beaten nor discouraged. Governme sistle has been tried in other places and found wanting. In our own province already a revulsion of feeling is finding vent."

Mr. Fortune raised considerable enthusiasm among the two hundred or so delegates attending from all over the province by his ringing denunciation of the British Columbia "wet" law.

He stated the association had three sand houses and found province by his ringing denunciation of the British Columbia "wet" law.

w. N. Mitchell and H. A. Beckwith, of Victoria, were appointed this morning to committees at the con-"Corrupting Influence."

"Corrupting Influence."

"The traffic in alcoholic liquors has always proved the most corrupting of all influences upon government, even when it was entirely owned by private interests. In its present form, when the manufacturing and wholesale businesses are privately owned and the rettiling for these interests is undertaken by the provincial government, it is especially degrading in its influence upon the government, while alcoholic beverage is equally evil whether vended by government officials or licensed individuals."

William Savage stated in the course of his presidential address in opening the convention.

Continuing Mr. Savage, said: "Under the present system the government is constantly under the influence of brewer, distiller and wholesaler, who divide profits with government; and confer with it for the extension of ways and means of rettil sale. All the sorbild crimes, poverty and distress arising out of the business have the government as their author, having supplied the cause thereof. The responsibility is upon every voter in the province, To you, therefore, is committed the responsibility in this convention of determining plans for the termination of this, the most degrading of all forms of liquor' sale.

The Present Situation.

Mr. Savage, considering the present act said: "The policy of the board is dictated by the Government's need for revenue, which is very great. Judging from the form of the Bill and from the actions of the Liquor Control. Board since, it becomes plain that the motive controlling the policy of the Government in framing the Bill and from the actions of the Liquor Control. Warns Municipalities.

"It is only fair for us to complain that the Government did take alls compensation from and impose the cost of enforcement upon the municipalities under the Prohibition Act, while they now seek to obtain the cooperation of the municipal enforcement of the Government Sale Act by encouraging division of police revenues," said Mr. Savage, in speaking of the distribution of revenue, "We warn the municipalities that they cannot prosper by any profit obtained by the weakening of their own citizens. The proof of the efficiency of a school can best be judged by the work of its old pupits. What thoughts the word "Scamanship" brings up; the sea, scamen, ships, winds, storms and calms. An old marine dictionary says;—"A Seaman, or Sea-Faring Men, are persons trained for the occupation of Mariners or Saliors. The relative duties of sea-faring men being of a laborious and dextorous nature can only be acquired by industrious application; and commercial encouragement seems best calculated to promote best interests, and secure best in maritime affairs." When an untrained landsman first goes to sea he is rated as a "Boy," and this is applicable whatever his age. Each boy from the "Victoria Seamanship School" has to pass the examination for Able Seaman before he is sent to sea. This examination includes the following subjects:

(a) Bends and Hitches: all bends and hitches; (b) Splices: eye, short, long and back splices; (c) Knots; wall and crown, manrope, turks' heads, straps, point and graft, worming, purcelling and serving boat's fenders; (d) Compass and Helm: a thorough knowledge of the compass, its use and principles of the helm; (e) Rule of the Road: all lights carried by vessels, sound signals and the rule of the road; (f) Tackles: to know and explain the

"I had been troubled for quite a while with indigestion. At times there would be a twitching of the nerves of my stomach; and I also found it difficult to get a good night's sleep. I am a moulder, and owing to the nature of my work my system became run-down. I took a treatment of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and found great benefit from this medicine. They did me a great deal of good. I have not been bothered at all with indigestion since, and can sleep much better. Dealing with the tariff, Mr. King outlined its workings, and declared no party in Canada would think of practising free trade and abolishing the tariff. Mr. Meighen also talks of revision, but has he told you how he intends to revise the tariff? He cannot, in the interests of the selfish interests who stand behind him, make his revision downward."

The Liberal Leader also dealt with railway deficits and operation, declaring that while Mr. Meighen claimed to have taken the railways out of politics, it was significant that he had countenanced the operation of an "interlocking board of directors, who were also directors of companies dealing with the railway company."

THE PRINCE DEPARTS.

People throughout the British Empire will watch with more than usual interest the progress of the Prince of Wales during his tour of India. It is small wonder that Great Britain should have suspended its coneern for the many domestic problems which are engaging public attention at the present time to pause and wish the heir to the Throne God-speed this morning. Premier Spoke in Orillia and Bracebridge

Gave Out Reply to Mr. King's Orillia, Ont., Oct. 25.-"There was ever an election in which geography ounted for so much as in this one," clared Premier Meighen to-night in

The Government had not raised the tariff issue, he said. The Gov-the tariff issue, he said. The Gov-the increase was brought about tariff policy which had been in ef-tariff policy which had been in ef-tariff policy which had been in effect prior to 1911, when the Liberals authorized by the Laurier Adere in power.
"The protective tariff we propose to adhere to," said Mr. Meighen, "and we ask the country to support us."

Mr. Meighen challenged Mr. Crerat to put his finger on any piece of legislation or other Governmental action which would indicate that the action which would indicate that the Government was in league with the big interests.

In Bracebridge.

Bracebridge, Ont., Oct. 25.—Premier Meighen, speaking here this afternoon, said the Progressives of the West had spent thousands of dollars on propaganda. They had established a newspaper in Winnipeg which had a large erculation. The Progressive Party was determined to have free trade at all costs, no matter what the rest of Canada suffered. The great bulk of those now forming the Progressive party in the West had come to Canada from the United States.

Australia had had free entry of implements of production for thirty years, said Mr. Meighen. The result years, said Mr. Meighen. The result years, said Mr. Meighen. The result

Australia had had free entry of implements of production for thirty years, said Mr. Meighen. The result was Canada and the United States sold Australia her implements, and the Australia ner implements, and the Australian farmer had to pay the Canadian price plus the cost of transportation. This meant an advance of from 30 to 50 per cent. over the price paid in Canada.

Finally the farmers and labor men of Australia had joined in demanding a protective tariff, so that implements of production could be made in their own country. Mr. Meighein asked his audience if they wanted to go back to the condition in which Australia was. Did the farmers want to admit all United States products duty free to flood the market they had built up?

Canada has too many rail-rays, says Mr. Crerar. Whose vays, says Mr. Crerar. fault is that? asks The Toronto Globe. Undoubtedly, The Globe answers, the responsibility for the "tragic mistake" of building too many railways rests with Sir William Mackenzie and the late Charles M. Hays. Conservaives talk as if the Laurier Ministry must take the chief blame for the overbuilding of Canadian railways, The Globe notes. anyone who knows the facts this is notoriously untrue, it asserts. When Laurier left office there was a mile of railway to 284 inhabitants. Six years later, after the Borden Ministry had authorized, among other ambitious projects, the crossing of the Rockies by the Canadian North ern, there was a mile of railway ministration, The Globe admits, but a large share of it must be chalked up against the Borden Government. It was the last straw piled on by Tory hands that broke the railway camel's back.

The Montreal Gazette, a Conservative newspaper, says that Sir Lomer Gouin, a French Canadian Liberal, is the type of man needed at Ottawa. The Gazette adds hastily, Sir Lomer is only a Liberal in name. He is a Conservative in nature "and we are convinced," The Gazette remarks, "that he will not repel the imputation other than in a party sense. After conducting the government of Quebec for fifteen years with general acceptance, Sir Lomer will speak in Parliament with authority, The Gazette predicts. Possibly he will speak as a Minister of the Crown. With an influential Quebec following behind him he may be able to com mand the situation and The Gazette even hints that he may some day emerge as the head of a government.

An earlier dispatch than the above said Fremier Meighen had handed out a letter giving a further reply to Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King's letter regarding high explosive shells.

An old woman whose toothless mouth shuts like a mud-turtle's, and whose hair is not so much white as yellow like moldy linen, with bands of pink skull apparent between the tresses, anxiously lifts her bag, opens it, peers in, closes it, puts it under the seat, and hastily picks up and opens if and hides it all over again. The bag is full of treasures and of memories: a leather buckle, an ancient band-concert programme, scraps of ribbon, lace, satin. In the alse beside her is an extremely indignant parrakeet in a cage.

Two facing seats, overflowing with a Slovene iron-miner's family, are littered with shoes, dolis, whisky bottles, bundles wrapped in newspapers, a sewing bag. She had seen them on trips from St. Paul to Chicago. But now that they had become her own people, to bathe and encourage and adorn, she had an acute and uncomfortable interest in them. They distressed her. They were stolid. She had always maintained that there is no American peasantry, and she sought now to defend her faith by seeing imagination and enterprise in the young Swedish farmers, and in a traveling man working over his order-blanks. But the older people, Yankees as well as Norwegians, Germans, Finns, Canicks, had settled into submission to poverty. They were peasants, she groaned. "Isn't there any way of waking them up? What would happen if they understood scientific agriculture?" she begged of Kennicott, her hand groping for his.

It had been a transforming honeymoon. She had been frightened to discover how tumultuous a feeling could be roused in her. Will had been lordly—stalwart, jolly, impressively competent in making camp, tender and understanding through the hours when they had lain side by side in a tent pitched among the pines high up on a lonely mountain spur.

His hand swallowed hers as he started from thoughts of the practise to which he was returning. "These people? Wake 'em up? What for? They're happy."

"But they're so provincial. No, that isn't what I mean. They're—oh, so sunk in the mud."

"Look here, Carrie. You want to get over your city idea that because a man's pants aren't pressed, he's a fool. These farmers are mighty keen and up-and-coming."

To each of the passengers his seat was his temporary home, and most of the passengers were statternly housekeepers. But one seat looked clean and deceptively cool. In it were an obviously prosperous man and a black-haired fine-skinned girl whose pumps rested on an immaculate horsehide bag.

They were Dr. Will Kennicot and his bride, Carol.

They were for conversational courtship, and they were on their way to Gopher Prairie after a wedding journey in the Colorado mountains.

positive statement of Benjamin H.

for the well-known firm of Croll &

"I was almost desperate from worrying over her condition, as she had suffered so long without getting reilef and I can hardly believe my own eyes now when I see the change in her. Why, she doesn't show her age by twenty years and declares she never remembers feeling better in her life. Her health was failing steadily for a year as a result of catarrh of the stomach, and I have never seen anybody suffer as much from indigestion and nervousness as she did.

"After a five weeks' course of Tanlac she was like another person, and

Home-made, but Has No Equal for Coughs

Makes a family supply of really dependable cough medicine. Eas-ily prepared, and saves about $2.

If you have a severe cough or chest cold accompanied with so re ness, throat tickle, hoarseness, or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up during the night with croup and you want quick help try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Four this into a 16-og, bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or you can use clarifed molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. This recipe makes 16 ounces of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes that line the throat and bronchial tubes with such promptness, case and certainty that it is really astonishing. Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds. There are many worthless limitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Ing on Saturday

Twenty two delegates, representinging various leading business firms in Japan, are expected to arrive in Victoria on Saturday by the Kashima Maru. Takuma Dan, who is head of the business delegation, will not arrive with the rest of the party owing to a slight liness which prevented him coming with the main party. His arrival in Victoria is assured by his presence on the Empress of Russia which is expected to arrive a few days after the business party. Takima Dan represents the largest firm in Japan, that of the Mitsui Company which includes banking, mining, exporting and importing businesses and as many offices both in the south and north of Japan. There are ten representatives from Tokio being sent over by leading business firm to secure a better understanding between Americans and Japanese. The Chambers of Commerce organization has sent five delegates over.

It is the intention of this business committee to remain in Washington during the Disarmament Conference, and to leave on December 13, to go to Europe to secure a better understanding with the business firms of that Continent.

A stay of a few hours is all that the delegates will be able to make here before they commence their journey to Washington, D. C. While in Victoria their time will be occupied by a sight-seeing trip around Victoria.

BRITISH TREATY

Negotiations Lead to Formulation of Plan

London, Oct. 26.-Abolition of the British protectorate in Egypt and substitution of a permanent treaty of alliance is provided for in a draf agreement which is the result o negotiations between the British and negotiations between the British and an Egyptian mission headed by Adly Taghen. Pasha, the Egyptian Premier, who is now in London. The document is ready for signature, but the Egyptian delegates are said to be reluctant to sign it, being dissatisfied with the details of the proposed alliance, which it is stated they fear will prove unacceptable to the extremists of Egypt.

Great Britain stimulated for the re-

Garrison.

Great Britain stipulated for the retention of a British garrison in Egypt on the ground it is necessary to insure the safety of foreigners and for the security of the British communications, although it is intimated that if the policy of Egypt proves friendly to Great Britain, a much freer hand will be given the Egyptian Government in the course of time.

It is said Great Britain has gone very far toward conceding the requests of the Egyptians, nearly all of which have been satisfied, and it was intimated in official circles, today that unless the Egyptian envoys sign at an early date the offer may be withdrawn.

last evening in the High School audi-torium. In the absence of Dr. Paul Higgins, the president, the chair was taken by F. Parfitt.

After an explanation by G. Cross on the object of the Victoria City P.-T. Federation, it was the unani-mous decision of the meeting to af-filiate with the Federation, and W. E. Nachtrieb was named as a represen-tative of the High School Parent-Teachers.

The chairman gave a report of his committee's work in connection with committee's work in connection with the High School grounds, and it was lecided to hand in this report to the decration for them to act with the ity Council.

W. E. Nachtrieb outlined the work of the Rotary Club among boys. F. Butterfield, of the boys' division of that club being present, arrangements were completed to hold a banquet of Rotarians and members of the High School P.-T. Association on the evening of November 4 at 6,30 o'clock, when the Rotary Club will provide speakers and a musical programme will be given, the funds from the banquet to go to the sports fund of the High School.

Ira Dilworth and H. W. Edwardson were appointed a committee to cooperate with the Rotary Club, and Mrs. A. Galbraith was made convener of the refreshment committee and of the sale of tickets.

Circular to Parents.

A circular letter having been drafted by the president, Dr. Paul Higgins, it was decided to send one to each High School parent and thus increase the membership of the association. This letter said in part:

"We have now a membership of 120, and as the number of registered students for the 1921-22 term is 981, and as both parents are eligible, you can appreciate that a large proportion of the parents have not yet joined the association.

the parents have not yet joined the association.

The objects of the association are briefly, co-operation between teachers and parents and sharing in the social, athletic and intellectual life of the school, and we aim to stand behind the School Trustees, the inspectors and principals in their efforts to improve conditions at that institution.

Curtail Expenditures.

"A certain element of the popula-tion wishes to curtail expenditure to such a degree as to cripple the school, and we must help to educate the rate-payers to the vital necessity of main-taining a proper standard of educa-

If Satisfactory Arrangement Is Made Between Victoria

Amateur Hockey Association and Arena Company

Regarding "Cut At Gate," Game Is Expected to Thrive This Winter; Dan O'Sullivan Again President

Two nights each week may be set aside for amateur hockey at the Arena this Winter. The Senior League will play its game each Monday night, while new leagues for developing and bringing on players may be formed to compete in games on Wednesday night.

This matter was mentioned at the annual meeting of the Victoria Amateur Hockey Association, held last evening in the Y. M. C. A. by President Dan O'Sullivan.

Must Bring On Players.

"You know, gentlemen," observed Dan, "we must bring on players. We cannot expect to run a senior league and yet provide Montreal, Oct, 26.—A pool to cover the expenses of several of their number has been formed by the women of the Royal Victoria College, McGill University, in order to ensure representation of the University women among their supporters of the local tournament at McGill-Varsity intercollegiate Rugby match in Toronto next Saturday. Each girl contributes 75 cents and representatives will be chosen by lot during the week.

players. We cannot expect to run no training ground for players. We must take a hand in developing and bringing on the youngsters. If we decided to foster Wednesday night games it might be possible to form a Commercial League, or assist the Sunday. School League and many other teams and clubs which last year played games without any direction or supervision. We must do our bir to develop players to take the place of those who are now in the Senior League and who will be forced to drop out in the future by Father Time."

The amateurs are going to seek dightly better terms with Manager Patrick this year. Last year the persentage of the gate received by the association did not pay the expenses of the clubs, one of the teams losing wer fifty dollars.

President D'Sullivan, Secretary MacFarlanegand Percy Watson were appointed a committee to draft a let-ter to be sent to Manager Patrick outlining the terms which the amateurs would like.

Adjournment Called.

Owing to the fact that the amateurs did not wish to proceed with further organization until it was discovered what the Arena company would do with the proposals, an adjournment was called after the new officers had been elected and the decision made in regard to the size of the league in event of everything turning out alright.

association did not pay the expenses of the clabs, one of the teams losing over fifty dollars.

It is the desire of the amateurs to make sure that they do not lose any money this season. The various speakers who spoke in favor of better terms made it known that the amateurs did not wish to make money but simply wanted to make sure that all legitimate expenses could be met. The fact that each amateur team last year insured its players against injury entailed additional pense. The amateurs will ask Managar Patrick for a slightly larger cut, with which it is expected that all expenses can be met this season. Majority of Leaders In Amateur Sport Believe There Should Be Dividing Line Between Amateurs and Professionals; Would Be Unsatisfactory For One Man to Be Known In Both Classes.

Vancouver, Oct. 26.-Vancouver amateur athletic organizations will continue to carry on under present A. A. U. of C. laws defining the status of an amateur.

Leaders of several of the most prominent and influential sporting bodies in the city are opposed to any proposal to change the rules which would permit an athlete to compete as a professional in one branch of sport and as an amateur in another.

That Alberta's recommendation advocating the adoption of the Old Country definition of an amateur governing the intermingling

That Alberta's recommendation advocating the adoption of the Old Country definition of an amateur governing the intermingling of pros. and amateurs, will not receive the endorsation of British Columbia is indicated in the views of Vancouver sportsmen who represent clubs, leagues and associations which control hundreds of adhetes. All of those interviewed on the subject with one exception are unalterably opposed to any change.

To-night the regular meeting of the Vancouver branch of the B. C. A. A. U. will be held at the Hotel Vancouver, when this all-important topic will be discussed among other matters. The meeting is not called for the specific purpose of debating this question, but with regular business cleared away, President Tennant promises to give those in attendance a chance to air their views. Later the B. C. A. A. U. executive will probably take cognizance of the subject and the discussion which it has created, for the purpose of definitely outling B. C's view, which will be submitted to the annual meeting of the A. A. U. of C. when Alberta representatives renew their fight for new laws.

Davidson Wants No Change.

Dr. J. G. Davidson, president of the B. C. A. A. U., one of the first athletic leaders interviewed yesterday, expressed the opinion that the present amateur law was quite satisfactory and that there was no necessity for making a change. He stated that he was preparing to issue a statement, and this he will probably do at tomorrow's meeting of the local board of the coast governing body.

A. E. (Reft) Tennant chairman of

of the coast governing body.

A. E. (Bert) Tennant, chairman of the Vancouver board, and president of the City Baseball and Commercial Hockey Leagues, is another who opposes any change. "I am certainly not in favor of the proposed change, but I believe that everyone should be given a change to discuss the question. Once a professional, always a professional. We must keep our amateurs to the fore. The time for a change is no doubt coming, but we should move cautiously."

F. D. McConnell and Bert Davison, president and secretary respectively.

F. D. McConnell and Bert Davison, president and secretary respectively, of the Greater Vancouver Amateur Athletic Association, which governs the track and field activities of Vancouver's budding athletes, disagree on the point whether the athletes should compete as a professional in one-branch of sport and as an amateur in another.

One Says Yes, Other No.
Says Mr. McConnell: "I am unalterably opposed to any proposal which would change the present laws governing amateur sport. There is no good reason for any change at this time."

The most prolific world series circuit hitter was "Home Run" Baker. He furnished in the 1911 gambol. He had always been one of Connie Mack's most dangerous clubbers, yet it was not expected that he would break up not expected that he would break up no less than two games in that set of battles.

Baker enacted his first home run stunt in that series at Shibe Park, Philadelphia. Rube Madquard was pitching. It was the second game of the series. The score was tied at 1 and 1 when in the seveuth inning Eddie Collins singled and Baker strode up to the plate. No one in that crowd was expectsting a circuit smash from his bat. Least of all did Marquard suspect the Athletics' thir sacker.

Obtaining an enthusiastic crowd of thousand extra people from a munuity of less than three thou-nd population was the seemingly possible accomplishment of the lomas H. all week.

Mr. MacLean and his company spent several weeks at Pleasanton, in Northern California, a village which was, years ago, one of the country's most famous horse breeding centres, where the unusual crowd was assembled as the background for the several "county fair" horse racing scenes which are a feature of "The Home Stretch."

which are a feature of "The Home Stretch."

As it was necessary to fill the old-fashioned grandstand of the Pleasanton track to its capacity of six thousand, Director Jack Nelson resorted to unusual, but highly effective, exploitation methods. Vaudeville entertainers were brought from San Francisco, two airplanes were chartered from a nearby city, cowboys were recruited from the stock farms for miles around, the services of the village band were enlisted and a hum-

On the day of the rodeo, all roads led to Pleasanton and the resulting crowd overflowed the grandstand, filled the paddock, and lined the fences, forming an ideal and realistic background for the remarkable racing scenes that followed.

So popular was the Thomas H. Ince company in the northern town that Mr. MacLean is now "Doug" to everyone from the mayor down to the village cut-up. A splendid cast of players, including Beatrice Burnham, Wade Boetler, Margaret Livingston, Charles Mailes and Walt Whitman appears in support of Mr. MacLean.

LITTLE THEATRE

Judging from the present bookings it is probable that the extremely entertaining drama "In the Queen's Service," now being presented by the Victoria Dramatic and Operatic Society at The Little Theatre will play to full houses for the balance of the week. Every effort has been extended to do justice to a play which rivals the Scarlet Pimpernel in dramatic situations. The play possesses an added touch of humor in the character of Compte de Tressan, the cowardly and despised suitor of the Marquise de Condiliac. How he attains his heart's desire and how the Marquise is victimized by her own plotting, how Valerie is rescued from the clutches of her enemies, how Marius falls to make use of his wits, these are but a few of the intensely interesting points in the play, brought about by Monsieur de Garnache, the Queen's messenger in the fulfilment of his duty. Mrs. Fred Beilby, who takes the part of the Marquise and allows the man she detests to believe she loves him, in order to enlist his services, displays dramatic ability of unusual worth. Elleen Allwood is perfectly 'suited to the part of Valerie, and possesses a very graceful and charming manner. Alex McPhillips as Marquis de Condillac, the despicable lover, shows that he is capable of excellent work. C. R. Dunsford, able lover, shows that he is capable of excellent work, C. R. Dunsford, Herbert Kent and Mrs. Fairbairn, who take smaller parts are none the

ROYAL VICTORIA

The golf links are utilized by Charles Chaplin in "The Idle Class." which will be the attraction again to-day at the Royal Victoria. The atre, as the setting for some of the funnlest incidents ever seen in a motion picture comedy.

His arrival on the links with his tattered bag containing two nondescript clubs is the signal for the fun to start. And it starts with a bang, keeping up at high speed throughout. He hasn't got a caddie, but that doesn't seem to bother him. He hasn't even got one of the necessary gutta percha pills, but he caimly appropriates one belonging to a more fortunate player—and thereby gets an innocent bystander into trouble, escaping the same fate himself.

He manages to hit the ball all right, but he is not over particular in which direction he whangs it, with the result that the links become a hazardous as "No Man's Land."

But the golfing incidents are but a smail part of "The Idle Class," the First National attraction which is packed solid with laughs.

The second attraction this week will be Charles Ray in "A Midnight Bell." In this pleture Ray is seen as a salesman. There is some splendid comedy portrayed, especially in the small general store, where the young fellow determined to get a job shows his ability as a salesman and astonishes the old-fashioned store keeper with his ability to make people part with their dollar—and like it. "A Midnight Bell" is considered one of Charles Ray's best pictures.

The musical attraction this week will be Miss Ivy Holt in songs selected. less perfectly sustained characters. The setting of each act has been very carefully chosen and executed,

DOG FIGHT'S WOLF PACK AND LYNX IN "KAZAN"

Human and real wolves figure in the screen version of James Oliver Curwood's gripping story. "Kazan." which will be offered at the Royal Victoria Theatre next week, commencing Monday. "Black" McCready, played by Edwin Wallock, is the human wolf, who attempts to force his undesired attentions on pretty Jean Radisson, marooned in an isolated cabin during a bilzzard. But the great wolf-dog Kazan comes to her rescue, and later makes the murderer of his master play for his crime. The real wolves take part in a thrilling attack on a man and girl "mushing" across the snows of the Far North. Jane Novak has the leading feminine role as Joan Radisson, and Ben Deeley portrays the first of the story. The picture, which is said to be one of the most remarkable ever made in the Canadian Northwest, was directed by Bertram Brackent. Viola Dana, in her new Metro pic-ture, "Glass Houses," appears as a girl who combs her hair straight back, and wears horn rimmed glasses and a bargain counter dress. a bargain counter dress.

Charming Novelties in New Department at Macey-,

Abell's Ltd. What to give as a wedding present, What to give as a wedding present, for the birthday gift or for the shower to the bride-elect are problems which intrigue the hostess from time to time and cause no little worry in their solution. While silver, linen and cut glass are always acceptable gifts, they are in a measure backneyed and the woman of originality is always seeking for the gift that is novel and different and for the trifle that bears the cachet of distinction. It is to cater to just such a need

It is to cater to just such a need Street. Hitherto the name of Macey-Abell has conjured up visions of prosaic, though excellent, office furnishings, stationery and leather goods, but in future it will come to mean in addition the home of fine art and the dainty specimens of nouveaux arts which have their instant appeal to women of culture and taste. By means of considerable structural alterations and improvements, an additional floor has been added to the store, where gleaming white shelves of unique design make an effective loackground for a host of attractive novelties, while walls and tables are given over to the display of artists work of a standard fo tempt the connoiseur and appeal to the dilettante.

Fine Water Colors.

Recognizing the necessity of catering to all tastes, Mr. Abell has gathered an exhaustive collection of artistic colored prints and mezzo tints covering a wide range of subjects, while his collection of original water-color sketches by Whitington, the eminent English marine artist, are an art gallers in themselves, Mr. Abell's success in securing these original paintings is all the more remarkable when it is considered that the British Admirality paid the artist a huge retaining fee for the execution of a series of impressionistic pictures of the naval battles of Jutland and the Falkland Islands. The largest of the seascapes now on view in the windows of the store was painted by the artist while on his way back from the scene of the Falkland Island battle, and the artist has caught with wonderful realism the intense blue of the Southern Pacific and the mistiness of the scudding grey clouds.

Canon Hinchliffe said he traveled in old clothes, which he said were commonsense attire, and always introduced himself properly. He was met with every courtesy and given the freedom of the camp. But he paid for all he got, with the exception of one meal, which was furnished by Premier Oliver.

The speaker claimed he belonged to the great frafernity of the unemployed from May 1 until the end of November and if workingmen he talked to thought he was out of a job they weren't far wrong.

as to why the anti-Asiatic clause was not being enforced in contracts. Hon. Mr. Pattullo had replied that it was "not considered in the public interest to make the information public," although he was willing to give the information privately to Mr. Hanes. Not Able to Save.

Canon Hinchliffe said that many of the married men in the camps were hard pressed to save $50 or $60 a month to send to their families. In fact, he said, one Swede explained to him that in the P. G. E. camphe was working for the same money all the time. The Northern Construction Company paid wages every fortnight and by the time the next pay-day came around the whole amount had been paid back to the company for meals and supplies.

He asked for two things. One was better housing for the men and the other fuller protection against high prices for commodities.

Take Half Loaf From Poor.

The best a laborer could do was to save two dollars a day, said the canon." If you charge him four cents a day, or $1.20 a month, you are simply taking a half a loaf of bread a day away from his needy family. He again warned the Government against such a step.

No "Graft" on Premier.

The P. G. E. came next on Mr. Hanes list of subjects. He asserted that he was still ready to have the Premier "call my bluff" if Mr. Bowsef would give him support, and see if the members on both sides of the House are ready to look into the P. G. E. campaign fund scandal, "that most colossal graft."

Premier Oliver: Are you connecting me with any graft?

Mr. Hanes: No.

Premier: You had better not.

Major Burde: What are you going to do about it?

Mr. Haines then took up the Legislative trip over the P. G. E. last Summer.

sions Act was working out successfully, but he suggested that sufficient money should be voted so that there will not be one mother getting a full pension, and another not because there is not sufficient money.

TO BE WALKOVER IN COMOX-ALBERNI

Whole Riding Keen for Anti-Meighen Convention Saturday, Says Major Burde

Major Burde, M. P. P. returned to Victoria Tuesday from Port Alberni where he took part in the open con-vention Monday night which nomi-nated delegates to the anti-Meighen and anti-Clements convention at Courtenay on Oct. 29.

Premier Tells of Exciting Times in Early Days

No Place to Live, Anyhow.

The Government leager commenced by drawing comparisons between the present situation and that of his early married life in the Delta. In those early days, he explained, he found it necessary to get his family into the upper part of the house for protection against the salt water. So he felt he was entitled to full credit for appreciating the regrettable condition of the Nicomen Island settlers.

He took the attitude that the settlers never should have been there in the first place, since the lands were very difficult to protect and he took the Dewdney member to task for not objecting to the settlement of the returned men en the Island by the Soldier Settlement Board. He also charged the Federal member with gross neglect.

Spend as Much as Ottawa.

Spend as Much as Ottawa.

Conservatives Refused.

Would Cost Nearly $300,000.

The Premier mentioned the recent activity of the Vancouver Board of Trade on the matter, reading a letter from Secretary W. E. Payne stating that the Board appreceded the "clear statement" given by the Premier.

He had met officials of that organization, he said, and they were satisfied with the stand he had taken. He then explained that Hon. Frank Carvell, then Public Works Minister in the Federal Government, had shown then explained that Hon Frank Carvell, then Public Works Minister in the Federal Government, had shown where the work required at Nicomen Island would cost $258,600.

"And still, the story was given out that all the Provincial Government would have to spend would be $20,000," rapped the Premier.

Kidding About Election.

He claimed credit for having a dredge sent up to Nicomen Island to dredge a channel to carry the water away from the croding banks. This should have been urged by the Dewdney member, he chided, or by the Federal representative.

Mr. Jones: Was there any election pending at that time?

Premier Oliver: No, the election was over and we had been sent back to office. (Laughter).

Mr. Bowser: The election was on when you wandered around the Island.

Premier Oliver: That was not the fest time I walked around it.

"The only strings on the candidate of this Courtenay convention is that he must be anti-Government and anti-Meighen to the bitter end," said Major Burde.

"The whole district is seething against the Ottawa Government and It will be a walk-over for whoever gets the nomination against Clements next Saturday."

Major Burde and the Rev. Thomas Menzies, M. P. P., both announce that they are not out for the momination as they want to stay in the Provincial field at the present time. Both map sinse they have been in Victoria at the Legislature have been bombarded with letters asking them to accept the nomination.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths; of the cases of stomach trouble, indigeation, sourness, burning, gas, bleating nauses, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochoric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juiges. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable and food sours, causing the food and the food and food sours, causing the food and food sours,

He said the Liberal party got into power on a platform of peace, retrenchment and reform, but nothing has been heard about these since last election, and nothing would be heard until the next election, when the Premier would appeal to the working class and make more promises to them.

Referring to the proposal to put a one per cent tax on the incomes of all persons earning less than the present exemption limit, Mr. Guthrie said he wanted to make it clear that members at the end of last session had nothing to do with the reduction in the wages of road men. He declared that wages were reduced by the Government, and that all information was denied to the House.

The Premier hotly repudiated the suggestion and offered to donate $50 to the Jubilee Hospital if Mr. Hanes could produce such a letter.

Mr. Hanes said he might be able to produce the letter yet, since he had written for a copy.

Would Cost Nearly $300,000.

The Premier mentioned the recent activity of the Vancouver Board of Trade on the matter, reading a letter from Secretary W. E. Payne stating that the Board apprecated the "clear statement" given by fite Premier.

He said the Liberal party got into the House.

He said the Government was not dealing adequately with the unemployment situation, although he admitted that he knew of "no cure for unemployment except getting rid of the present system, the capitalist system."

Take Haif Loaf From Poor.

The best a laborer could do was to save two dollars a day, said the canon." If you charge him four cents a day, or $1.20 a month, you are simply taking a haif a loaf of bread a day away from his needy family." He again warned the Government against such a step.

The speaker appeared to feel that he would be criticized for his tour of investigation, and in this connection said that no matter how badly he was "grilled" over the episode he would feel that he had been fully repaid for his time and expense.

Commends Tranquille Work.

He congratulated the Government on the help being given to the municipalities, but warned against increased taxation. This would only stifle industry, he said.

Canon Hinchliffe complimented the Government upon its work at Tranquille, but he contended that the Government was far from correct if it imagined that enough had been done in fighting tuberculosis.

He said the Government's colonization proposals were commendable, provided care was taken to secure the best class of settlers, and particularly those of British birth.

"We need a happy and contented rural population," he said, "and with this there would be no cause for unemployment. With eighty or ninety per cent, of the present settlers prosperous you would not need to take further steps to get others; they would come."

He proposed a complete overhaul of the deucational system and urged the Government to submit the legislation to be introduced immediately so that the members of all parties might have a chance to assist.
